Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

The following letter from one of our best-known Massachusetts Druggists should be of interest to every sufferer: RHEUMATISM, "Eight years ago I had an attack of Rheumatism, so so-vere that I could not move from the bed, or dress, without help. I tried several reme-dies without much if any relief, until I took ANNESS ARRAPARILLA, by the use of two southers of which I was completely cined have sold large quantities of your Sarsa Parilla, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has all cit cited in this vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public.

The Printer.

How little ye ken, Ye women and men, By courtesy called "gentle readers," Of how much you owe To the noble typo, And his army of folders and feeders.

The poet may sing Of his lyrical string, Of his muses, his loves and his graces; But, ah! he'd sing small, If he warbled at all, Were it not for the chases and cases.

The writer of fiction. Whose beautiful diction Beguiles the long evenings of winter, His mind would be left Like a casket bereft

Of its key-if not picked by the printer.

The annalist, too, That brings to your view The wonderful story of ages, Would sure be as dumb

As a clam, and as mum, If nobody made up his pages. Then who so doth read, I beg him take heed

To the lesson these stanzas convey him, Viz: Now that you know What a treasure you owe To the printer, be certain to pay him.
